like Malaria and Kala Azar in accordance with recommendations of WHO. A High Level Mandate Committee has been constituted which meets annually in order to determine the area and quantum of DDT spray in the country.

(b) to (e) DDT is a persistent organic compound which can stay in the environment long after its initial application. During this period, DDT and its breakdown products may enter the food chain and accumulate in fatty tissues. There is currently no direct link established between DDT and its possible negative effects on human health.
